Wayne Anglers Club Holds Banquet

Some 120 fishermen and hunters of the Good Hope area turned out for the annual banquet of the Wayne Anglers Club Monday evening at Wayne Hall.

After a roast beef dinner served by the members of the Golden Rule Class of the Good Hope Methodist Church, members heard talks by Mack Sauer, editor of the Leesburg Citizen and well known yarn spinner; David Krupla, the county's new game protector; and Barney Sullivan, a representative of the Kewanee Oil Co., which is currently seeking oil leases in this area. Sauer's talk was his usual mixture of free-wheeling humor and "constructive suggestion," according to Frank Grubbs, the club secretary. President Stanley Fordyce introduced the speaker.

Game Protector Krupla greeted the members of the club and pledged his co-operation with the sportsmen whenever he could help them.

Sullivan's brief talk outlined the purposes of the Kewanee Oil Co. in seeking oil leases here in Fayette County and in surrounding areas.

THE PROGRAM also featured tap dancing by Teish and Linda Kellenberger, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Dana Kellenberger of the Good Hope Road. The McCormick sisters presented a pair of songs to their own guitar accompaniment. Members of the club who land the biggest fish in six classes, plus the cock pheasant and the longest tailfeather and the largest raccoon will win prizes, members were told during the after-dinner program.

First and second prizes will be awarded in each class. Both adults and teenagers in the club are eligible to enter largemouth bass, smallmouth bass, crappies, bluegills, catfish and carp, as well as coons and pheasants.

The business session was led by President Fordyce. Secretary Grubbs opened the program with an invocation.

Also announced at the session was the total number of members in the club. There are 124 paid-up members and three honorary members.

GOP Leaders Study Strategy In Uphill Battle Over Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republican chiefs searched today for a key to victory in an uphill battle to shape the election year farm bill more to Eisenhower liking.

Republican leader Joseph M. Martin Jr. (Mass.) predicted a winning formula would be found at a special conference of all House Republicans this afternoon.

But if Congress doesn't revise the bill again to meet administration wishes, Martin said "I'm reasonably sure" President Eisenhower will veto it and keep Congress in session until it approves another farm measure.

Democrats and Republicans making up the powerful farm bloc have said Congress will not pass any alternate legislation if a veto kills the pending bill. The President can hold Congress in session.

Marine Corps Probing Loss Of 6 Recruits

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—Young Marine recruits, most still in their teens, recounted today tales of swirling cold winter inky blackness and panic in which five of their buddies drowned and a sixth disappeared.

Marine officers opened an inquiry to fix blame, if any for the tragedy which occurred Sunday night on an unscheduled hike of 75 men into swampy marshland bordering this Marine recruit training base.

The drill sergeant who directed the men on the night march was held in detention pending the outcome of the investigation.

Bodies of five recruits drowned in the training maneuver were recovered yesterday. A search for the missing sixth man continues.

The 75 men followed S. Sgt. Mat thew C. McKeon, 31, of Worcester, Mass., into the swift, icy waters of the stream. A Parris Island officer said at first the night maneuver may have been a disciplinary action. But the survivors disclaimed this and cited Sgt. McKeon for his heroic action in helping to get the men out.

Pvt. Edwin Leonard, 17, of Roselle Park, N. J., said, "the sergeant didn't order anyone into the deep water. He was the first one in and the last one out. He did all he could."

Some of the men apparently stepped into mud holes after entering the water others slipped or fell and were dragged by the strong current of the stream.

Hillsboro Race Segregation To End On Order

Federal Judge Plans Issuing Directive On School Setup Tomorrow

HILLSBORO (AP)—Hillsboro's city board of education will be ordered tomorrow to immediately end segregation of Negro pupils in its elementary schools.

But school officials in this Southern Ohio city complained the task may be too great that they were not prepared to offer a program to meet the situation.

The order for immediate integration of Negroes into the schools "will come from U. S. District Judge John H. Druffel of Cincinnati."

He announced his intention after the Hillsboro school board last night voted to give up its fight to delay integration.

But today, school leaders said it had no program ready to implement integration.

"We do not have a program," School Supt. Paul L. Upp said. "We naturally wouldn't have. What are we going to do? You tell me. I don't know. We are going to ask the State Department of Education to conduct tests of the children who have been out of school so we will know just in what classes they belong. That's all I can say at this time."

DR. WILLIAM L. Lukens, president of the school board, said "We had hoped that Judge Druffel would give us more time, along with some instructions."

He said "our lawyers haven't told us what to do. We do not have enough chairs, and we need more room. We also might be short one school teacher."

The present school term in Hillsboro ends May 28.

It was Judge Druffel who first upheld the school board in its stand against immediate integration. But he was overruled by the U. S. Court of Appeals, Sixth Circuit, at Cincinnati and the U. S. Supreme Court declined to review the school board's appeal.

The board last night received a recommendation by City Solicitor James D. Hapner that there were not sufficient new facts to justify a petition to the Supreme Court for a rehearing.

THE BOARD quickly adopted a resolution which accepted Hapner's recommendation and said it would "await the decree of the federal district court directing the manner of integration for the remainder of the school year."

Judge Druffel's order tomorrow, if obeyed, will bring a halt to a daily parade to the Hillsboro Webster elementary school. That parade has been made up of about a score of Negro youngsters who have sought entrance in the school each day but have been turned away by educational chiefs on the grounds that "there is no room."

Segregation has been practiced in the Hillsboro school system only in the elementary grades. Integration has been approved in the junior and senior high schools for many years.

Youngsters who have been turned away from Webster school have been receiving private tutoring from the Society of Friends (Quakers).

Ike Ready To Use Troops In Mideast If War Flares

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower left virtually no doubt today he would ask Congress for authority to use U. S. troops in the turbulent Middle East if the United Nations voted to quell any aggression there.

A statement of U. S. policy dealing with Arab-Israeli strife set forth the President's view of the situation as his vacation headquarters here announced he will make a major foreign policy address in Washington April 21.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said Eisenhower will speak that night at a banquet concluding the annual meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. Hagerty went into no detail on the foreign policy theme, but it is likely the Mideast will come in for presidential attention.

A little less than four hours after Eisenhower arrived here, from Washington yesterday for a week of golf and work, the vacation White House here put out a statement saying the President and Secretary of State Dulles regard "with the utmost seriousness" the "repeated incidents of hostility in the Middle East."

The statement, issued with full approval of Eisenhower and Dulles said further:

"The United States, in accordance with its responsibilities under the charter of the United Nations, will observe its commitments within constitutional means to oppose any aggression in the area."

"The United States is likewise determined to support and assist any nation which might be subjected to such aggression. The United States is confident that other nations will act similarly in the cause of peace."

The statement also pledged U. S. support "in the fullest measure" for the Middle East peace mission of Dag Hammarskjold, the U. N. secretary general. That pledge, the White House here said, is in line with the unanimous vote of the U. N. Security Council, "the body on which all the members of the United Nations have conferred primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security."

The implicit emphasis in the statement, issued as Arab-Israeli border fighting and killing continued, was on (1) fulfilling U. S. commitments under U. N. charter terms with respect to quashing aggression, and (2) doing so "within constitutional means."

As for the latter point, Eisenhower told a news conference last week he never would send American forces into any action which could be interpreted as war without prior approval of Congress.

Yesterday's statement clearly means that if the U. N. Security Council labeled any nation an aggressor in the Middle East and called for use of force to halt aggression, the President would feel obligated to put the matter before Congress for a final decision on committing U. S. troops.

In Washington this morning Dulles and congressional leaders discussed the grave Middle East situation, including possible use of American forces there. But House GOP Leader Martin (Mass.) said he requested authority to send

Senate Republican Leader Knowland (Calif.) said when the session broke up that Dulles reviewed the Middle East situation but "no legislative action was requested."

Although Martin said there is "no particular, pressing emergency that we know about," he added: "When nations are shaking their fists at each other you never can tell when a pressing emergency will arise."

House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) and Senate Democratic Leader Johnson of Texas declined to say much more than that they had been briefed by Dulles.

County School Teachers Hold Workshop Session

County school teachers got a chance to familiarize themselves with some of the changes that they will meet with now that all the county schools are in one district when they gathered for a half-day teacher's workshop at Jeffersonville High School Monday afternoon.

Discussions of teacher contracts, salary schedules and a "projection of opportunities for teachers" under the new system highlighted the half-day meeting.

Pupils were dismissed at noon so the teachers could spend the afternoon at the workshop meeting. Three workshops and a short general session were instituted to answer teacher's questions and listen to their opinions in the meeting.

Robert L. Drury, Ohio Education Association attorney, came from Columbus to the meeting to discuss teacher contracts. County teachers have come under the jurisdiction of different laws now that they are in a district including more than 800 pupils, it was explained.

County School Superintendent W. J. Hilty and Miami Trace District Superintendent W. W. Boyer led the "projected opportunities for teachers" in the new district, while Boyer's unit examined the teacher's salary schedule.

TEACHERS, with professional, permanent, or life teaching certificates are eligible for continuing contracts after three years of service under the new system. Drury told his group. Award of such contracts may be postponed for up to two years, Drury said, but they must be awarded.

The new district must honor all unexpired contracts from the old district, Drury continued, provided there is no transfer of territory. Only if the size of the territory is decreased can contracts be cancelled, he said.

But, the county board can transfer teachers anywhere within the district, Drury asserted. In other words, he explained, if a teacher were teaching the fourth grade at one school under the old system, the board is within its rights in offering a sixth grade at another school under the new system.

Supt. Boyer's group discussed questions relating to the new Miami Trace salary schedule that went into effect at the first of the year. Questions relating to individual problems and problems of the whole group under the new system were answered.

Not all teachers went on to their proper position on the new salary scale at the same time for two reasons, Boyer said: first, the strain on the budget would be too great, and second, the effect on the community, in the case of some of the bigger increases, would be bad.

Hopefully, all teachers will be moved up on the new schedule as fast as possible, he asserted.

Questions in Hilty's discussion revolved generally around a possible all-county high school, Robert Hildreth, the group recorder said. Time ran out on the group before all the questions had been answered, Hildreth added.

TEACHING staff for a new high school would be selected in the same way that present faculties are assembled, Hilty told the group—by the administrators, subject to the board's approval. Professional qualifications—training and experience—and results of a personal interview with the administrators will be among the governing factors, he said.

Seniority of teachers now under contract would be honored as far as possible, subject to the best interests of the pupils, Hilty said.

If a new high school were built he explained, jobs would be made available somewhere in the system for all the teachers in former high schools—but not necessarily in the new one—Hilty said. Thus, he explained, a teacher's contract would have to be honored, but the teacher would not have to be given a job exactly like the one held before, Hilty explained.

He emphasized that teachers who

Arab Ambush Costs Lives Of About 140

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—A battle touched off by an Arab rebel army of two truckloads of young French conscripts cost the lives of at least 140 men, French authorities reported today.

Delayed reports from east-central Algeria said the rebels caught the conscripts 2½ miles from their post at Djurdj Thursday morning.

The initial outbreak of gunfire in the arid mountainous region sounded the alarm and the Djurdj headquarters rushed reinforcements by helicopter. The fight lasted for three hours before the French troops broke out of the ambush.

Authorities reported 20 French soldiers killed and 30 wounded. They said French troops found the bodies of 60 rebels and estimated that the Moslems carried off another 60 dead when they faded into the desert hills.

The French pressed their campaign against rebel bands in widespread sections of the North African territory.

They reported 28 rebels killed in the Constantine and Bone regions and 14 rebels killed in the Oran area of western Algeria. The mop-up around Oran was carried out after the murders of a Roman Catholic priest and a French prospector. Two hundred rebel suspects were arrested in the Oran area.

In Paris, Premier Guy Mollet announced his support of Algerian Resident Minister Robert Lacoste's call for 200,000 more French troops.

Young Mailman Just Too Tired

DETROIT (AP)—Elwyn A. Hughes, 19, a former mail carrier who "got too tired to complete my route," was on two years probation today.

Hughes, who pleaded guilty to obstructing the mails, was arrested last February after a series of complaints. People on his route said they weren't getting any mail. Inspectors found 10,000 pieces of mail in Hughes' attic. All of it finally got delivered.

Hughes explained he "got too tired." Postal inspectors said he must have got tired every day he stepped out of the postoffice. He had been a carrier only two weeks.

New Violence Reported To Hammarskjold

Diplomat Planning Conference With Both Sides In Fuss

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold today launched his Palestine peace mission against a background of continuing Arab-Israeli violence.

Hammarskjold landed at Israel's Lydda Airport southeast of Tel Aviv to meet Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief of the U. N. Palestine Truce Commission.

Hammarskjold and Burns were to fly to Cairo later today for talks with Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser. The two U. N. officials will confer in the other Arab capitals and again in Israel after the Cairo visit.

In one of the capitals he will visit, Damascus, Syria, visiting King Hussein of Jordan called for the Arab nations to "unite ourselves to check the vigorous Israeli threat" and to "restore Palestine to its legitimate Arab owners."

The young Jordanian monarch and Syrian President Shukri Kuwaty, whose countries border Israel on the east, pledged their forces to joint action to defend Arab territories.

EMILE BUSTINI, a member of the Lebanese government, reported he would ask Hammarskjold "to get the United Nations, to implement its own 1947-48 resolutions on Palestine. These called for internationalization of Jerusalem, which Israel claims as its capital, and for repatriation or compensation for 900,000 Arab refugees forced out of Palestine."

Refusal of Israel to meet these demands has been blamed as a major stumbling block toward a long-range settlement.

Continuing bloodshed in southern Israel and along the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip was reported even as the secretary general arrived on the scene.

Israel said roving Arab suicide squads (called Fedayeen) unleashed a third "night of terror" on southern Israeli settlements.

The Israelis claimed 10 settlements were attacked during the night, with one Israeli killed, three wounded and water installations and lines blown up. An army spokesman said one raider was killed and another wounded and captured in the east Judean Hills, close to the Jordan-Israel frontier.

At about the same time, an Israeli army patrol encountered another Egyptian Fedayeen squad in the Lachish area between Jordan and the Gaza Strip border, an Israeli Army spokesman said. One of this band was killed, bringing the total of Fedayeen killed to 11 the last two days.

AN EGYPTIAN military spokesman said an Israeli patrol of 30 soldiers crossed the demarcation line in the Deir el Ballah area, south of Gaza, yesterday afternoon and opened automatic fire on Egyptian forces.

Egyptian forces returned the fire and forced the Israelis back behind their lines after half an hour's fighting.

The spokesman said the Egyptians suffered no casualties. Egypt has protested to the Mixed Armistice Commission.

The spokesman also reported that a plane believed to be an Israeli reconnaissance plane flew over the Gaza area Monday night but withdrew after circling the area for three hours. He said Egypt also had protested to the commission over this.

Boy, 7, Killed In Grain Elevator

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The body of seven-year-old John Meeker was found yesterday in a grain elevator at nearby Hilliards, wedged between a wall and a 250-pound bale of burlap bags.

Coroner Robert A. Evans did not rule immediately on the cause of death. Sheriff's Sgt. Paul Stornont said the boy apparently had been playing in the elevator when he slipped and fell behind the bale.

Military Aid Program Urged

New Incentive Asked For Career Personnel

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower called today for speedy congressional approval of a six-point program to bolster "our power for peace" through attracting more U. S. youth to military careers.

"Only when we have created a military career service which can compete with the attractive opportunities available in civilian pursuits will we be able to stop the wasteful losses from our armed forces and attract individuals to those services," Eisenhower said.

The program, as outlined by Defense Secretary Wilson:

1. Remove what he called "inequities and inconsistencies" by providing a system of survivor benefits "that will not only bear some relationship to the attainments of the serviceman at the time of his death, but would enable widows to maintain at least minimum standards over their life span."

2. Assure medical care for all dependents of military personnel, either at military hospitals or under an insurance plan at civilian hospitals.

3. ENACT legislation which would place about 50 per cent of Army and Air Force total officer strength in the regular officer category.

4. Provide career incentives for medical and dental officers.

5. Provide better housing. Many young officers cite poor quarters for their wives and children as their chief reason for leaving the service, Wilson said.

6. Approval of legislation, already introduced, which would authorize continued retirement of commissioned Army and Air Force officers at currently held temporary grades.

"The United States is likewise determined to support and assist any nation which might be subjected to such aggression. The United States is confident that other nations will act similarly in the cause of peace."

The statement also pledged U. S. support "in the fullest measure" for the Middle East peace mission of Dag Hammarskjold, the U. N. Secretary General. That pledge, the White House here said, is in line with the unanimous vote of the U. N. Security Council, "the body on which all the members of the United Nations have conferred primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security."

The implicit emphasis in the statement, issued as Arab-Israeli border fighting and killing continued, was on (1) fulfilling U. S. commitments under U. N. charter terms with respect to quashing aggression, and (2) doing so "within constitutional means."

As for the latter point, Eisenhower told a news conference last week he never would send American forces into any action which could be interpreted as war without prior approval of Congress.

Yesterday's statement clearly means that if the U. N. Security Council labeled any nation an aggressor in the Middle East and called for use of force to halt aggression, the President would feel obligated to put the matter before Congress for a final decision on committing U. S. troops.

In Washington this morning Dulles and congressional leaders discussed the grave Middle East situation, including possible use of American forces there. But House GOP Leader Martin (Mass.) said no request for authority to send can forces into any action which could be interpreted as war without prior approval of Congress.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland (Calif.) said when the session broke up that Dulles reviewed the Middle East situation but "no legislative action was requested."

Although Martin said there is "no particular, pressing emergency that we know about," he added: "When nations are shaking their fists at each other you never can tell when a pressing emergency will arise."

House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) and Senate Democratic Leader Johnson of Texas declined to say much more than that they had been briefed by Dulles.

Kentucky Liquor Agent Is Target Of Mystery Shots

VERSAILLES, Ky. (AP)—Glenn Wash, an agent for the state alcoholic beverage control board, escaped injury when nine bullets were fired into his car.

Wash told Sheriff E. Paul Jackson he was driving toward Frankfort when a car pulled alongside and an occupant started firing.

Five bullets struck the front door, three of them passing through the car. Four came through the rear window.

Wash said he slumped over the steering wheel to keep out of the way.

The men were "shooting to kill," he said.

Their motive was a mystery.

Columbus Boy, 9, Object Of Search

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Police continued today to search for a nine-year-old boy missing from his home since yesterday.

The search for brown-haired, brown-eyed Robert Eugene Boltman was concentrated along the Scioto River and the Columbus south side.

The boy's grandmother, Mrs. Goldie Shoemaker, said she last saw Robert when he left for school at 1 p. m. Relatives said the boy previously had been punctual in going to and returning from school.

County School Teachers Hold Workshop Session

County school teachers got a chance to familiarize themselves with some of the changes that they will meet with now that all the county schools are in one district when they gathered for a half-day teacher's workshop at Jeffersonville High School Monday afternoon.

Discussions of teacher contracts, salary schedules and a "projection of opportunities for teachers" under the new system highlighted the half-day meeting.

Pupils were dismissed at noon so the teachers could spend the afternoon at the workshop meeting.

Three workshops and a short general session were instituted to answer teacher's questions and listen to their opinions in the meeting.

Robert L. Drury, Ohio Education Association attorney, came from Columbus to the meeting to discuss teacher contracts. County teachers have come under the jurisdiction of different laws now that they are in a district including more than 800 pupils, it was explained.

County School Superintendent W. J. Hilty and Miami Trace District Superintendent W. W. Boyer led the "projected opportunities for teachers" in the new district, while Boyer's unit examined the teacher's salary schedule.

TEACHERS with professional, permanent, or life teaching certificates are eligible for continuing contracts after three years of service under the new system, Drury told his group. Award of such contracts may be postponed for up to two years, Drury said, but they must be awarded.

The new district must honor all unexpired contracts from the old district, Drury continued, provided there is no transfer of territory. Only if the size of the territory is decreased can contracts be cancelled, he said.

But, the county board can transfer teachers anywhere within the district, Drury asserted. In other words, he explained, if a teacher were teaching the fourth grade at one school under the old system, the board is within its rights in offering a sixth grade at another school under the new system.

Supt. Boyer's group discussed questions relating to the new Miami Trace salary schedule that went into effect at the first of the year. Questions relating to individual problems and problems of the whole group under the new system were answered.

Not all teachers went on to their proper position on the new salary scale at the same time for two reasons, Boyer said: first, the strain on the budget would be too great, and second, the effect on the community, in the case of some of the bigger increases, would be bad.

Hopefully, all teachers will be moved up on the new schedule as fast as possible, he asserted.

Questions in Hilty's discussion revolved generally around a possible all-county high school, Robert Hildreth, the group recorder said. Time ran out on the group before all the questions had been answered, Hildreth added.

TEACHING staff for a new high school would be selected in the same way that present faculties are assembled, Hilty told the group—by the administrators, subject to the board's approval. Professional qualifications—training and experience—and results of a personal interview with the administrators will be among the governing factors, he said.

Seniority of teachers now under contract would be honored as far as possible, subject to the best interests of the pupils, Hilty said.

If a new high school were built he explained, jobs would be made available somewhere in the system for all the teachers in former high schools—but not necessarily in the new one—Hilty said. Thus, he explained, a teacher's contract would have to be honored, but the teacher would not have to be given a job exactly like the one held before, Hilty explained.

He emphasized that teachers who (Please Turn to Page Two)

Arab Ambush Costs Lives Of About 140

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—A battle touched off by an Arab rebel ambush of two truckloads of young French conscripts cost the lives of at least 140 men, French authorities reported today.

Delayed reports from east-central Algeria said the rebels caught the conscripts 2½ miles from their post at Djeter Thursday morning.

The initial outburst of gunfire in the arid mountainous region sounded the alarm and the Djeter headquarters rushed reinforcements by helicopter. The fight blazed for three hours before the French troops broke out of the ambush.

Authorities reported 20 French soldiers killed and 30 wounded. They said French troops found the bodies of 60 rebels and estimated that the Moslems carried off another 60 dead when they faded into the desert hills.

The French pressed their campaign against rebel bands in widespread sections of the North African territory.

They reported 28 rebels killed in the Constantine and Bone regions and 14 rebels killed in the Oran area of western Algeria. The mop-up around Oran was carried out after the murders of a Roman Catholic priest and a French prospector. Two hundred rebel suspects were arrested in the Oran area.

In Paris, Premier Guy Mollet announced his support of Algeria Resident Minister Robert Lacoste's call for 200,000 more French troops.

THE ISRAELI military spokesman said an Israeli patrol of 30 soldiers crossed the demarcation line in the Deir el Ballah area, south of Gaza, yesterday afternoon and opened automatic fire on Egyptian forces.

Egyptian forces returned the fire and forced the Israelis back behind their lines after half an hour's fighting.

The spokesman said the Egyptians suffered no casualties. Egypt has protested to the Mixed Armistice Commission.

The spokesman also reported that a plane believed to be an Israeli reconnaissance plane flew over the Gaza area Monday night but withdrew after circling the area for three hours. He said Egypt also had protested to the commission over this.

New Violence Reported To Hammarskjold

Diplomat Planning Conference With Both Sides In Fuss

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold today launched his Palestine peace mission against a background of continuing Arab-Israeli violence.

Hammarskjold landed at Israel's Lydda Airport southeast of Tel Aviv to meet Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief of the U. N. Palestine Truce Commission.

Hammarskjold and Burns were to fly to Cairo later today for talks with Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser. The two U. N. officials will confer in the other Arab capitals and again in Israel after the Cairo visit.

In one of the capitals he will visit, Damascus, Syria, visiting King Hussein of Jordan called for the Arab nations to "unite ourselves to check the vigorous Israeli threat" and to "restore Palestine to its legitimate Arab owners."

The young Jordanian monarch and Syrian President Shukri Kuwaty, whose countries border Israel on the east, pledged their forces to joint action to defend Arab territories.

EMILIE BUSTINI, a member of the Lebanese government, reported he would ask Hammarskjold "to get the United Nations to implement its own 1947-48 resolutions on Palestine. These called for internationalization of Jerusalem, which Israel claims as its capital, and for repatriation or compensation for 900,000 Arab refugees forced out of Palestine."

Refusal of Israel to meet these demands has been blamed as a major stumbling block toward a long-range settlement.

Continuing bloodshed in southern Israel and along the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip was reported even as the secretary general arrived on the scene.

Israel said roving Arab suicide squads (called Fedayeen) unleashed a third "night of terror" on southern Israeli settlements.

The Israelis claimed 10 settlements were attacked during the night, with one Israeli killed, three wounded and water installations and lines blown up. An army spokesman said one raider was killed and another wounded and captured in the east Judean Hills, close to the Jordan-Israel frontier.

At about the same time, an Israeli army patrol encountered another Egyptian Fedayeen squad in the Lachish area between Jordan and the Gaza Strip border, an Israeli Army spokesman said. One of this band was killed, bringing the total of Fedayeen killed to 11 the last two days.

AN EGYPTIAN military spokesman said an Israeli patrol of 30 soldiers crossed the demarcation line in the Deir el Ballah area, south of Gaza, yesterday afternoon and opened automatic fire on Egyptian forces.

4-H Leadership Program Held

200 Turn Out Here For Training Meet

Nearly 200 officers and advisors of the county's 4-H clubs gathered for their annual leadership training conference Monday evening at the Washington C. H. High School auditorium.

Features of the session included talks by Extension Service personnel and other agricultural leaders, and seven discussion groups for advisors and for youngsters holding seven different 4-H offices.

Robert McCormick, Extension Service supervisor for southwestern Ohio, told the group how 4-H work can help in "Improving Family and Community Living."

Other speakers were County Agent W. W. Montgomery, who reviewed progress in 4-H work here in Fayette County and across the state; Frank Alexander, organizational director of the Farm Bureau, who outlined the way in which 4-H programs develop leadership abilities; and Charles Coles of the Dayton Power and Light Co., who outlined how the Fair can be a more effective "4-H Club Show Window."

Mrs. Margaret Crago, Extension Agent for 4-H work here, gave a catalog of upcoming 4-H dates.

The seven group discussions were for presidents, secretary-treasurers, health and safety officers, news reporters, recreation leaders and advisors.

Associate County Agent Philip Grover was chairman of the program.

Teacher Workshop

In remarks before the meeting, Hilty asserted that Jeffersonville High School will be able to accommodate all the county high school pupils that the city schools are unable to accommodate next year.

The county school can duplicate the whole program, Hilty said, with the exception of the "Sunburst" (the high school's annual) and he added "we'll make adequate substitution for that," he said. "We might call it the 'Miami Tracian.'" Hilty cracked in explaining his remarks Tuesday morning — "the point is that we can do it."

"A new shop will have to be built for manual training students," Hilty asserted, "but other physical alterations are of a minor nature."

'Point' May Be Acquired By Historical Society

At a meeting of the board of trustees of the Fayette County Historical Society at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Garrenger Monday night the ground work for an increased program of activities was laid and a number of matters pertaining to the society were discussed at length.

George Pensyl, the president, presided.

One of the subjects discussed was that of taking additional steps toward acquiring the triangular point which was formerly occupied by the Socony Mobil Oil Co. service station. If it is acquired, plans call for restoring it with landscaping to beautify the point and enhance the attractiveness of the Museum property generally.

It was disclosed that negotiations are now under way with a view to purchasing the point of land which is bounded on the east by the Museum building, and which was formerly part of the Morris Sharp and later the O. E. Powell property. Whether these negotiations will be successful is still undetermined.

The trustees have been encouraged in their attempt to acquire the property by assurance from some of the abutting property owners that they will contribute liberally toward the project.

The matter of placing the large storage space in the attic of the projected Fayette County museum was discussed.

Another matter given attention was a solicitation to wipe out the present indebtedness of $2,300 on the museum property, as well as the additional indebtedness incurred if "the point" is acquired, and to establish an operating fund, so the Fayette County Museum may become a reality as soon as possible.

It was also brought out that the Historical Society is in need of storage space for furniture from Miss Edith Gardner's home, until it is placed in the museum building. Anyone having such space—one room would be sufficient, it was stated—is asked to get in touch with President George Pensyl or Secretary B. E. Kelley.

Plans for another general meeting of the entire society will be formulated soon, it was indicated.

Congregation Eyes New Temple Walls

DALLAS (AP) — The plastered walls of the new Temple Emanuel will have the anxious scrutiny of the congregation during the next few weeks.

Worried as to what Monday's dust storm would do to the fresh plaster, congregation leaders conferred with the contractor.

He said he wasn't sure what might happen but several years ago a dust storm rolled in while they were plastering a school in El Paso. About 10 days later weeds sprouting from tiny wind borne seeds, started growing out of the walls and ceilings.

4-H Leadership Program Held

200 Turn Out Here For Training Meet

Nearly 200 officers and advisors of the county's 4-H clubs gathered for their annual leadership training conference Monday evening at the Washington C. H. High School auditorium.

Features of the session included talks by Extension Service personnel and other agricultural leaders, and seven discussion groups for advisors and for youngsters holding seven different 4-H offices.

Robert McCormick, Extension Service supervisor for south-western Ohio, told the group how 4-H work can help in "Improving Family and Community Living."

Other speakers were County Agent W. W. Montgomery, who reviewed progress in 4-H work here in Fayette County and across the state; Frank Alexander, organizational director of the Farm Bureau, who outlined the way in which 4-H programs develop leadership abilities; and Charles Coles of the Dayton Power and Light Co., who outlined how the Fair can be a more effective "4-H Club Show Window."

Mrs. Margaret Crago, Extension Agent for 4-H work here, gave a calendar of upcoming 4-H dates.

The seven group discussions were for presidents, secretary-treasurers, health and safety officers, news reporters, recreation leaders and advisors.

Associate County Agent Philip Grover was chairman of the program.

Teacher Workshop

In remarks before the meeting, Hilty asserted that Jeffersonville High School will be able to accommodate all the county high school pupils that the city schools are unable to accommodate next year.

The county school can duplicate the whole program, Hilty said, with the exception of the "Sunburst" (the high school's annual) and he added "we'll make adequate substitution for that," he said. "We might call it the 'Miami Tracian.'" Hilty cracked in explaining his remarks Tuesday morning — "the point is that we can do it."

"A new shop will have to be built for manual training students," Hilty asserted, "but other physical alterations are of a minor nature."

'Point' May Be Acquired By Historical Society

At a meeting of the board of trustees of the Fayette County Historical Society at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Garringer Monday night the ground work for an increased program of activities was laid and a number of matters pertaining to the society were discussed at length.

George Pensyl, the president, presided.

One of the subjects discussed was that of taking additional steps toward acquiring the triangular point which was formerly occupied by the Socony Mobil Oil Co. service station. If it is acquired, plans call for restoring it with landscaping to beautify the point and enhance the attractiveness of the Museum property generally.

It was disclosed that negotiations are now under way with a view to purchasing the point of land which is bounded on the east by the Museum building, and which was formerly part of the Morris Sharp and later the O. E. Powell property.

Whether these negotiations will be successful is still undetermined. The trustees have been encouraged in their attempt to acquire the property by assurance from some of the abutting property owners that they will contribute liberally toward the project.

The matter of placing the large storage space in the attic of the projected Fayette County museum was discussed.

Another matter given attention was a solicitation to wipe out the present indebtedness of $2,300 on the museum property, as well as the additional indebtedness incurred if "the point" is acquired, and to establish an operating fund, so the Fayette County Museum may become a reality as soon as possible.

It was also brought out that the Historical Society is in need of storage space for furniture from Miss Edith Gardner's home, until it is placed in the museum building. Anyone having such space—one room would be sufficient, it was stated—is asked to get in touch with President George Pensyl or Secretary B. E. Kelley.

Plans for another general meeting of the entire society will be formulated soon, it was indicated.

Congregation Eyes New Temple Walls

DALLAS (AP) — The plastered walls of the new Temple Emanuel will have the anxious scrutiny of the congregation during the next few weeks.

Worried as to what Monday's dust storm would do to the fresh plaster, congregation leaders conferred with the contractor.

He said he wasn't sure what might happen but several years ago a dust storm rolled in while they were plastering a school in E. Paso. About 10 days later weeds sprouting from tiny wind borne seeds, started growing out of the walls and ceilings.

Class Play To Be Presented Friday

The young actors of Jefferson High School will present their senior class play, "Beanes for Breakfast," at the high school auditorium at 8 P. M. Friday evening.

The date of the show falls on Friday the 13th. Commenting on that, Mrs. Margaret Dowler, director of the play, said, "We're awfully optimistic."

Actually, though, neither Mrs. Dowler nor any of the members of the cast believes they have much cause for worry. Their play is a sure-fire comedy.

It concerns the efforts of a poverty-stricken widow to impress a friend in another city with her wealth. Then comes the day when the friends, a family named Beane, write that they are arriving for a breakfast visit. (The name and the time of the visit is a tip-off on the reason for the title, "Beanes for Breakfast.")

Anyway, the hostess and her family go to great trouble to borrow the furnishings of wealth to deck out their home. They hire a butler and a maid for one breakfast only; in brief, they bend over backward to hide how poor they are.

Then the Beanes arrive in a limousine. It is some time—and many laughs—before the play comes to a happy conclusion.

THE CAST includes Charlotte Moats as the widow, Roger Crabtree as her son, Ruth Young as her daughter, Nancy Campbell as the hillbilly cook, and Jimmy Jacobs as the uncle.

John Wright will play the daughter's boyfriend, Mary Marshall will be the son's girl friend, Patty Long is the girl friend's mother and Janet Huley is the boy friend's aunt.

Mrs. Beane is played by Anna Mae Coe, Mr. Beane by Ronald Sears, their son by Stanley Hannah, their daughter by Dorothy Steen, the Beane's chauffeur by Elton Smith, a TV salesman by Ronald Sams and his helper by Dan Hopkins.

Mrs. Dowler, who is directing the show, is business education instructor at the school. Robert Mason will be stage manager and Larry Park will be prompter.

Members of the junior class will usher.

Mrs. Dowler said that the seats, which are reserved, are still on sale though they are "coming fast." She issued a special warning that if theatergoers arrived after the 8 P. M. curtain, they would have to stand through the "very long" first act.

Little Red School Houses In Ohio Nearly All Gone Now

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—If you've never seen a little red school house, better hurry. They may soon be extinct.

Harold E. Robison, chief accountant in the division of school finance, state department of education, says one-room school houses are disappearing from the Ohio scene.

And, the school district consolidation trend is expected to sound the death knell for most of the state's remaining 88 one-room school houses.

A few years ago, Robison said, there were hundreds of one-room schools in Ohio. Last June, the number declined to 111 and by the first of the year had dropped to 88.

Most of these schools are in sparsely populated rural areas. They have an average daily attendance of 2,334 pupils, or 27 students per school.

R. M. Eymann, state director of education, says one-room schools have diminished in number each year because they have served their purpose and outlived their utility.

Most educators, Robison says, agree it is difficult to administer a good educational program in these schools.

They are being abandoned in favor of consolidation and integration into centralized school districts.

"Consolidation should result in an added advantage for school children," Robison said.

He said today's schools are undergoing a period of streamlining. Larger schools are being built to accommodate increased population and to alleviate overcrowded conditions.

All these factors, Robison declared, mean ultimate elimination of one and two-room school houses.

Twenty-two counties in the state have at least one such school with Darke and Holmes counties accounting for 12 each. This is the last year for 10 of Darke's one-room schools.

The institutions in Holmes are likely to remain for some time due to the county's large Amish population which has been slow to follow the modern trend toward consolidation for an increased curriculum and better facilities.

Tuscarawas County has 10 such schools, Belmont 8, and Harrison and Williams 6 each.

Other counties with at least one one-room school house: Coshocton, Fairfield, Gallia, Guernsey, Jefferson, Lawrence, Monroe, Noble, Ottawa, Paulding, Perry, Pike, Richland, Stark and Washington.

Hobby Club Meets
Here Friday Night

President Roscoe Whiteside of the Fayette County Holby Club has announced the next meeting of the organization will be held at the City Building on Friday at 7 P. M.

The program for the evening is in charge of Nathaniel Tway and F. Scott Zimmerman, and promises to be an interesting one.

As usual a carry-in supper will feature the meeting, and all members are urged to take some unusual article for display, and give information about it.

High Court's Rule Eyed In Darling Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—While Ohio State University officials were rejecting the censure of the American Assn. of University Professors (AAUP) in the firing of a professor, a U. S. Supreme Court ruling was announced Monday in a similar case.

The high court denied New York City the right to fire a college professor who invoked the Fifth Amendment before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

The dismissal in 1952 of Dr. Byron T. Darling from Ohio State stemmed from a somewhat similar situation. Dr. Darling had invoked the First and Fifth Amendments when questioned that year by the House Un-American Activities Committee about alleged Communist connections.

He was subsequently dismissed from the university by the board of trustees after a hearing in which he made unsworn statements that he was not and never had been a member of the Communist party.

Last week the AAUP censured the university for dismissing Dr. Darling. The board of trustees Monday reaffirmed its decision dismissing the professor and rejecting the censure.

A university spokesman had no comment on the Supreme Court decision, but he said the proper university authorities would be informed and that a statement might come later.

Two Are Arrested For Drunk Driving

Police made one arrest for driving while drunk and the state Highway Patrol also brought one in for the same offense Monday.

Lorraine Francis Harvey, 42, Greenfield, was taken into custody by the police at 7:30 P. M. Monday after she had sideswiped another car in an alley. She is now facing a driving while drunk charge.

Because of her health she was released without bond and will appear here to face the charge filed in municipal court. She was driving a car owned by Arthur Hiles of Greenfield, the record shows. The car struck one owned by Norman E. Melvin, city.

Patrolman R. R. Shelton arrested Ruloff E. Reselar, 54, city, on the Circleville Pike, on a driving while drunk charge.

Class Play To Be Presented Friday

The young actors of Jefferson High School will present their senior class play, "Beane for Breakfast," at the high school auditorium at 8 P. M. Friday evening.

The date of the show falls on Friday the 13th. Commenting on that, Mrs. Margaret Dowler, director of the play, said, "We're awfully optimistic."

Actually, though, neither Mrs. Dowler nor any of the members of the cast believes they have much cause for worry. They play the role of a sure-fire comedy.

It concerns the efforts of a poverty-stricken widow to impress a friend in another city with her wealth. Then comes the day when the friends, a family named Beane, write that they are arriving for a breakfast visit. (The name and the time of the visit is a tip-off on the reason for the title, "Beane for Breakfast.")

Anyway, the hostess and her family go to great trouble to borrow the furnishings of wealth to deck out their home; they hire a butler and a maid for one breakfast only; in brief, they bend over backward to hide how poor they are.

Then the Beanes arrive in a limousine. It is some time—and many laughs—before the play comes to a happy conclusion.

THE CAST includes Charlotte Moats as the widow, Roger Crabtree as her son, Ruth Young as her daughter, Nancy Campbell as the hillbilly cook, and Jimmy Jacobs as the uncle.

John Wright will play the daughter's boyfriend, Mary Marshall will be the son's girl friend, Patty Long is the girl friend's mother and Janet Huley is the boy friend's aunt.

Mrs. Beane is played by Anna Mae Coe, Mr. Beane by Ronald Sears, their son by Stanley Hannah, their daughter by Dorothy Steen, the Beane's chauffeur by Eldon Smith, a TV salesman by Ronald Sams and his helper by Dan Hopkins.

Mrs. Dowler, who is directing the show, is business education instructor at the school. Robert Mason will be stage manager and Larry Park will be prompter.

Members of the junior class will usher.

Mrs. Dowler said that the seats, which are reserved, are still on sale though they are "going fast." She issued a special warning that "heaters" arrived after the 8 P. M. curtain, they would have to stand through the "very long" first act.

Woman Cleric, 66, Files Guilty Plea

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Rev. Gladys B. Heine, 66, of the New Thought Temple, pleaded guilty to illegally practicing medicine as her second trial was about to begin in municipal court yesterday. A jury was unable to agree on a verdict at a previous trial. Mrs. Heine was accused by two women of giving them medical treatment. Judge Mary B. Grossman with held sentencing pending a report from the probation department.

$20,000 Taken From Farm Home

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police in suburban Strongsville today hunted for a burglar who stole $20,000 from the farm home of Mrs. Molly Tomes, 69.

Mrs. Tomes, an egg dealer, told police the money was from the sale of eggs and real estate she owned in the area. She said the money was in a steel cashbox hidden in the top of an old phonograph.

Little Red School Houses In Ohio Nearly All Gone Now

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—If you've never seen a little red school house, better hurry. They may soon be extinct.

Harold E. Robison, chief accountant in the division of school finance, state department of education, says one-room school houses are disappearing from the Ohio scene.

And, the school district consolidation trend is expected to sound the death knell for most of the state's remaining 88 one-room school houses.

A few years ago, Robison said, there were hundreds of one-room schools in Ohio. Last June, the number declined to 111 and by the end of the year had dropped to 88.

Most of these schools are in sparsely populated rural areas. They have an average daily attendance of 2,354 pupils, or 27 students per school.

R. M. Eymann, state director of education, says one-room schools have diminished in number each year because they have served their purpose and outlived their utility.

Most educators, Robison says, agree it is difficult to administer a good educational program in these schools.

They are being abandoned in favor of consolidation and integration into centralized school districts.

"Consolidation should result in an added advantage for school children," Robison said.

He said today's schools are undergoing a period of streamlining. Larger schools are being built to accommodate increased population and to alleviate overcrowded conditions.

All these factors, Robison declared, mean ultimate elimination of one and two-room school houses. Twenty-two counties in the state have at least one such school with Darke and Holmes counties accounting for 12 each. This is the last year for 10 of Darke's one-room schools.

The institutions in Holmes are likely to remain for some time due to the county's large Amish population which has been slow to follow the modern trend toward consolidation for an increased curriculum and better facilities.

Tuscarawas County has 10 such schools, Belmont 8, and Harrison and Williams 6 each.

Other counties with at least one one-room school house:

Coshocton, F. A. field, Gallia, Guernsey, Jefferson, Lawrence, Monroe, Noble, Ottawa, Paulding, Perry, Pike, Richland, Stark and Washington.

Hobby Club Meets Here Friday Night

President Roscoe Whiteside of the Fayette County Hobby Club has announced the next meeting of the organization will be held at the City Building on Friday at 7 P. M.

The program for the evening is in charge of Nathaniel Tway and F. Scott Zimmerman, and promises to be an interesting one.

As usual a carry-in supper will feature the meeting, and all members are urged to take some unusual article for display, and give information about it.

High Court's Rule Eyed In Darling Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—While Ohio State University officials were rejecting the censure of the American Assn. of University Professors (AAUP) in the firing of a professor, a U. S. Supreme Court ruling was announced Monday in a similar case.

The high court denied New York City the right to fire a college professor who invoked the Fifth Amendment before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

The dismissal in 1952 of Dr. Byron T. Darling from Ohio State stemmed from a somewhat similar situation. Dr. Darling had invoked the First and Fifth Amendments when questioned that year by the House Un-American Activities Committee about alleged Communist connections.

He was subsequently dismissed from the university by the board of trustees after a hearing in which he made unsworn statements that he was not and never had been a member of the Communist party.

Last week the AAUP censured the university for dismissing Dr. Darling. The board of trustees Monday reaffirmed its decision dismissing the professor and rejecting the censure.

A university spokesman had no comment on the Supreme Court decision, but he said the proper university authorities would be informed and that a statement might come later.

Two Are Arrested For Drunk Driving

Police made one arrest for driving while drunk and the state Highway Patrol also brought one in for the same offense Monday.

Lorraine Francis Harvey, 42, Greenfield, was taken into custody by the police at 7:30 P. M. Monday after she had sideswiped another car in an alley. She is now facing a driving while drunk charge.

Because of her health she was released without bond and will appear here to face the charge filed in municipal court. She was driving a car owned by Arthur Hiles of Greenfield, the record shows. The car struck one owned by Norman E. Melvin, city.

Patrolman R. R. Sheline arrested Roluf E. Reselar, 54, city, on the Circleville Pike, on a driving while drunk charge.

Ours Is "Still A Nation Under God"

People here, or anywhere else, can get into an argument on most any street corner on this much discussed matter of segregation.

It is not necessary to be in the southern states to become involved in a vocal "hassle" when this subject comes up.

Both sides easily may have the wrong view at times when the merits of segregation or non-segregation starts either a street corner argument or causes some orator to leap into the headlines through some explosive bit of oratory.

Not long ago the wire services carried two news stories of particular interest to all who profess both a belief in deity and a conviction that this belief should motivate and guide their lives.

One told of a Washington religious conference at which President Eisenhower noted that for all its material gains the United States "still is a nation under God."

It is good to be reassured that the president feels this way. The great majority of Americans would join him in this affirmation.

But the other news story underscores the fact that affirmation is not enough.

The dateline of this story was Memphis, Tenn. There Thurgood Marshall, special counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, had something disconcerting to say about the attitude of church authorities toward ending racial segregation.

"The churches," he declared, "are passing lovely resolutions and doing nothing about it. They could clean this whole thing up in five minutes."

This obviously is an overstatement of the situation.

Though there are many divergent views on segregation, hardly anyone will deny that the matter is troublesome and will be difficult to settle. Marshall exaggerates the power of the churches, but in so doing he spotlights a challenge to churchgoing people. All who say they believe in the universal brotherhood of man ought to reaffirm that we are "a nation under God," and then act accordingly.

You Need A Chickcharnie?

By Hal Boyle

ANDROS TOWN, The Bahamas—If there is someone in your life you want haunten, this is the place to get the job done.

You can rent a boat here and enjoy some of the world's finest bonefishing. But if you choose to dabble in a little black magic you can also rent a ghost by the week or month or even buy one outright, if you prefer.

Andros, the largest island in the Bahamas, is a mystic realm reportedly inhabited by the spooks of pirates and several kinds of eerie beasts known nowhere else on earth.

Clear Creek is a salty stream that now divides the old and new worlds of Andros.

On one side lies Andros Town, a multi-million-dollar development by Dr. Axel Wenner Gren, the Swedish financier. Its luxurious villas, yacht club and lighthouse club have become a new resort playground for well-to-do sportsmen and sun-seekers of three continents. You couldn't find a pleasanter place to fish for a marlin or pick up a quick tan.

Across Clear Creek is Coakley Town, where the natives live. They are descendants of African slaves and Seminole Indians, and many still hold a local form of voodoo they have developed over the centuries.

They dislike walking by the deeply timbered groves after dusk. They feel the forests are the homes of the chickcharnies and the yahoos, strange, half-human, half-animal creatures with magic powers to work ill or harm.

The chickcharnies are knee-high, have big ears and huge, owl eyes. Birdlike, they build nests in the juncture of three tall trees that touch at the top.

They inflict a lifelong curse on anyone who molests their eyries. Legend has it that all the misfortune that befell the late British prime minister, Neville Chamberlain, was the work of the chickcharnies.

The story is that Chamberlain, as a young man, came across a chickcharnie nest while clearing ground for a sisal plantation here. When native workmen fled in terror at his order to tear down the home of the aerial elves, Chamberlain chopped down the trees himself.

Elderly leaders still blame Chamberlain's failure at Munich on the chickcharnie curse, and say Britain never would have won the war if he hadn't been succeeded by Churchill.

You could never mistake a chickcharnie for a yahoo. Yahoos are tall creatures with red-rimmed eyes and three fingers and they have their feet on backwards. They dwell in the bush.

If you are going through the bush and suddenly confront a Yahoo, the safest thing to do is to hold up your hand in a form of the Boy Scout salute—with three fingers upright and the thumb holding the little finger down.

Presumably the yahoo, seeing your three fingers, will figure you are a member of his lodge, and go on about his business.

"It is a mistake to joke with the natives about these things," said Ray Camp, former rod and gun editor of the New York Times, who now manages the Wenner-Gren properties. "They take them very seriously."

A leading citizen of Coakley Town is Constable Boyd, a venerable native beagle of the law. One reason he finds it easy to maintain peace is that, for more than a generation, he has held the ghost concession. It's a monopoly.

Constable Boyd never questions why anyone wants to buy or rent a ghost. That is up to the customer.

You can buy a ghost for $23, but there is one disadvantage. The ghost won't go with you if you leave the island. He prefers his old haunts.

I met one young lady who rented a ghost for two weeks and said he had worked out very satisfactorily.

When I asked what task she had set the ghost, she blushed and said, "I'd rather not go into that."

Later one of her friends laughed and said:

"Well, it was while that ghost was working for her that she finally got her boy friend to pop the question."

Seizure Of The 'Daily Worker'

By George Sokolsky

Now that some time has elapsed, it is right to ask what the Treasury believed it was accomplishing by the seizure of the "Daily Worker," and the communist party headquarters. On the face of it, the Treasury seems to have accomplished nothing. The "Daily Worker" never stopped publishing, not even for one day. Even if the Treasury got $2,309, it is doubtful whether that will enrich the United States or impoverish the communists who seem to be able to collect funds to stay alive. The "Daily Worker" was published in the same building, the Treasury apparently not knowing that "Die Freiheit" is as much an organ of the communist party as the "Daily Worker."

If the object of the Treasury was to suppress the "Daily Worker," it exceeded its authority under the law and violated the First Amendment to the Constitution. If its object was to collect an income tax, it only raised the question in the minds of many citizens as to whether this is a proper method for collecting unpaid taxes. Surely if this is the ordinary method, then Congress should act immediately to make it extraordinary and unlawful. If a premise is to be searched, a search warrant should be issued by a court after due process. If property is to be seized, it should be seized after a trial, so that due process is not violated. Neither the Treasury nor any other administrative agency of the government should process arbitrary powers to act as prohibition agents acted and it should be noted that the excesses of governmental action, as much as the thirst for beer, brought on the repeal of the 18th Amendment and the Volstead Act.

Actually, the Treasury for several years has been studying the problem of tax exemptions by organizations not entitled to this privilege. This particularly applies to communist organizations which raise money by various means without ever making reports either publicly or to the Treasury as to the details of contributors and expenditures for which a form is provided and an annual report required under the law. The "Daily Worker" runs at a loss and if they ever told the truth about contributors and expenditures, it would be found that certain communists as well as non-communist fellow travelers provide funds for the deficits. If these persons take these contributions as income tax deductions, they are violating the law.

The communist party's claim that it had made income tax reports each year is either true or false. The Treasury statement on the subject is not clear because its agents do not feel that they are obligated, as public officials, to explain what they were doing, which is a wrong attitude to take as it serves the communists, who conduct a world-wide propaganda, setting forth their position whereas the Treasury gives the impression of unbelievable confusion. Washington stating that they do not know what New York officials are doing and why. It may be that the law and regulations forbid these officials to make statements to the press; in which case, they ought not to take steps which require well-considered and carefully prepared statements to the press.

JOHN J. SHANAHAN, of Lexington, Mass., is seen through the shattered windshield of his station wagon before being removed to an ambulance after a collision on Soldiers' Field Road, Boston. Suffering facial and head lacerations, Shanahan called for help through a radio in his car. The operator notified police. (International)

Visit Your Dentist And Take His Advice

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Dental decay is giving the U. S. Army one of its toughest battles.

The Army Surgeon General's office describes the dental condition of men entering the service as "shocking." And these figures seem to support the statement.

During a 12-month statement, Army dentists extracted 1,109,024 teeth. They installed 3,372,372 permanent fillings. And they fitted 99,117 partial dentures and 14,079 fixed bridges.

Further Report

Further, the Surgeon General's office reports:

"The amount of treatment needed by the average inductee to repair old defects accumulated during years of neglect as a civilian would provide four years of ordinary maintenance care for an individual already in reasonably good dental health."

This presents a pretty dreary picture, doesn't it? Yet, other statistics indicate that Americans as a whole are paying more heed to the advice of dentists.

Regular Visits

For years the American Dental Association has been urging regular visits to the family dentist and brushing the teeth after each meal as the primary means of checking decay.

Many of you finally are beginning to follow their advice. At least figures show that last year Americans bought more than 500,000,000 tubes of toothpaste, a record for a single year.

Many of you I know, do visit your dentist at least twice a year, as recommended—until you move into a new neighborhood. Then you wait until you get a toothache before seeking out another dentist.

One of the first things you should do upon moving into a new distant community is to choose a new dentist and physician if you're unable to continue seeing those you had.

Dental Society

As for the dentist, telephone the office of the local dental society. They probably will give you names of three qualified dentists. If there is no local office, call a reputable hospital and ask the chief of dental service to recommend several dentists. Or ask any physician.

But whatever you do, be sure your dentist is visited for a checkup at least twice a year. It is an ounce of prevention worth a pound of cure.

PIKE NATURAL GAS COMPANY

Class A Voting Common Stock

GROWTH WITHIN GROWTH

Pike Natural Gas Company is a new company in the dynamic and growing natural gas industry.

Formed to fill the strong demand for natural gas in the Pike County communities surrounding the new atomic energy plant, Pike Natural Gas Company expects to start servicing customers in July.

To help finance necessary construction, Pike Natural Gas Company has issued 110,000 shares of Class A voting common stock. This gives Ohio investors the opportunity to share in the growth of a "growth" company.

The company is in the ideal position of having a demand before the supply is available... a demand which will grow with the population. Engineering reports anticipate a nearly three-fold increase in the number of residential customers by 1960, with commercial and industrial use adding further to the company's revenue.

Ours Is "Still A Nation Under God"

People here, or anywhere else, can get into an argument on most any street corner on this much discussed matter of segregation.

It is not necessary to be in the southern states to become involved in a vocal "hassle" when this subject comes up.

Both sides easily may have the wrong view at times when the merits of segregation or non-segregation starts either a street corner argument or causes some orator to leap into the headlines through some explosive bit of oratory.

Not long ago the wire services carried two news stories of particular interest to all who profess both a belief in deity and a conviction that this belief should motivate and guide their lives.

One told of a Washington religious conference at which President Eisenhower noted that for all its material gains the United States "still is a nation under God."

It is good to be reassured that the president feels this way. The great majority of Americans would join him in this affirmation.

But the other news story underscores the fact that affirmation is not enough.

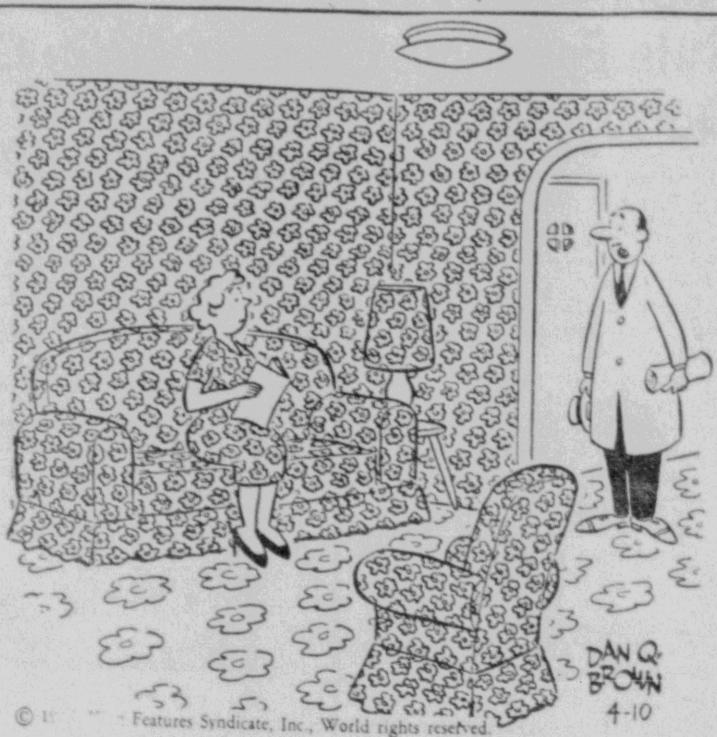

The dateline of this story was Memphis, Tenn. There Thurgood Marshall, special counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, had something disconcerting to say about the attitude of church authorities toward ending racial segregation.

"The churches," he declared, "are passing lovely resolutions and doing nothing about it. They could clean this whole thing up in five minutes."

This, obviously, is an overstatement of the situation.

Though there are many divergent views on segregation, hardly anyone will deny that the matter is troublesome and will be difficult to settle. Marshall exaggerates the power of the churches, but in so doing he spotlights a challenge to churchgoing people. All who say they believe in the universal brotherhood of man ought to reaffirm that we are "a nation under God," and then act accordingly.

Visit Your Dentist And Take His Advice

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN
Dental decay is giving the U. S. Army one of its toughest battles.

The Army Surgeon General's office describes the dental condition of men entering the service as "shocking." And these figures seem to support the statement.

During a 12-month period, Army dentists extracted 1,101,024 teeth. They installed 3,372,372 permanent fillings. And they fitted 99,117 partial dentures and 14,079 fixed bridges.

Further Report
Further, the Surgeon General's office reports:

"The amount of treatment needed by the average inductee to repair old defects accumulated during years of neglect as a civilian would provide four years of ordinary maintenance care for an individual already in reasonably good dental health."

This presents a pretty dreary picture, doesn't it? Yet, other statistics indicate that Americans as a whole are paying more heed to the advice of dentists.

Regular Visits
For years the American Dental Association has been urging regular visits to the family dentist and brushing the teeth after each meal as the primary means of checking decay.

Many of you finally are beginning to follow their advice. At least figures show that last year Americans bought more than 500,000,000 tubes of toothpaste, a record for a single year.

Many of you I know, do visit your dentist at least twice a year, as recommended — until you move into a new neighborhood. Then you wait until you get a toothache before seeking out another dentist.

One of the first things you should do upon moving into a new distant community is to choose a new dentist and physician, if you're unable to continue seeing those you had.

Dental Society
As for the dentist, telephone the office of the local dental society. They probably will give you names of three qualified dentists. If there is no local office, call a reputable hospital and ask the chief of dental service to recommend several dentists. Or ask any physician.

But whatever you do, be sure your dentist is visited for a checkup at least twice a year. It is an ounce of prevention worth a pound of cure.

Personally, I do not object to the imprisonment of every communist in America, provided it is done by due process of the law without violating the Constitution. The Constitution is more important than collecting $2,500 for the premises of the "Daily Worker."

You Need A Chickcharnie?

By Hal Boyle

ANDROS TOWN, The Bahamas—If there is someone in your life you want haunted, this is the place to get the job done.

You can rent a boat here and enjoy some of the world's finest bonefishing. But if you choose to dabble in a little black magic, you can also rent a ghost by the week or month or even buy one outright, if you prefer.

Andros, the largest island in the Bahamas, is a mystic realm reportedly inhabited by the spooks of pirates and several kinds of eerie beasts known nowhere else on earth.

Clear Creek is a salty stream that now divides the old and new worlds of Andros.

On one side lies Andros Town, a multi-million-dollar development by Dr. Axel Wenner-Gren, the Swedish financier. Its luxurious villas, yacht club and lighthouse club have become a new resort playground for well-to-do sportsmen and sun-seekers of three continents. You couldn't find a pleasanter place to fish for a marlin or pick up a quick tan.

Across Clear Creek is Coakley Town, where the natives live. They are descendants of African slaves and Seminole Indians, and many still hold a local form of voodoo they have developed over the centuries.

They dislike walking by the deeply timbered groves after dusk. They feel the forests are the homes of the chickcharnies and the yahoos, strange, half human, half-animal creatures with magic powers to work ill or harm.

The chickcharnies are knee-high, have big ears and huge, owl-like eyes. Birdlike, they build nests in the juncture of three tall trees that touch at the top.

They inflict a lifelong curse on anyone who molests their cries.

Legend has it that all the misfortune that befell the late British prime minister, Neville Chamberlain, was the work of the chickcharnies.

The story is that Chamberlain, as a young man, came across a chickcharnie nest while clearing ground for a sisal plantation here. When native workmen fled in terror at his order to tear down the home of the aerial elves, Chamberlain chopped down the trees himself.

Elderly leaders still blame Chamberlain's failure at Munich on the chickcharnie curse, and say Britain never would have won the war if he hadn't been succeeded by Churchill.

You could never mistake a chickcharnie for a yahoo. Yahoos are tall creatures with red-rimmed eyes and three fingers and they have their feet on backwards. They dwell in the bush.

If you are going through the bush and suddenly confront a Yahoo, the safest thing to do is to hold up your hand in a form of the Boy Scout salute — with three fingers upright and the thumb holding the little finger down.

Presumably the yahoo, seeing your three fingers, will figure you are a member of his lodge, and go on about his business.

"It is a mistake to joke with the natives about these things," said Ray Camp, former rod and gun editor of the New York Times, who now manages the Wenner-Gren properties. "They take them very seriously."

A leading citizen of Coakley Town is Constable Boyd, a venerable native beagle of the law. One reason he finds it easy to maintain peace is that, for more than a generation, he has held the ghost concession. It's a monopoly.

Constable Boyd never questions why anyone wants to buy or rent a ghost. That is up to the customer.

You can buy a ghost for $23, but there is one disadvantage. The ghost won't go with you if you leave the island. He prefers his old haunts.

I met one young lady who rented a ghost for two weeks and said he had worked out very satisfactorily.

When I asked what task she had set the ghost, she blushed and said, "I'd rather not go into that."

Later one of her friends laughed and said:

"Well, it was while that ghost was working for her that she finally got her boy friend to pop the question."

Seizure Of The 'Daily Worker'

By George Sokolsky

Now that some time has elapsed, it is right to ask what the Treasury believed it was accomplishing by the seizure of the "Daily Worker," and the communist party headquarters. On the face of it, the Treasury seems to have accomplished nothing. The "Daily Worker" never stopped publishing, not even for one day. Even if the Treasury got $2,500, it is doubtful whether that will enrich the United States or impoverish the communists who seem to be able to collect funds to stay alive. The "Daily Worker" was published in the same building, the Treasury apparently not knowing that "Die Freiheit" is as much an organ of the communist party as the "Daily Worker."

If the object of the Treasury was to suppress the "Daily Worker," it exceeded its authority under the law and violated the First Amendment to the Constitution. Its object was to collect an income tax, it only raised the question in the minds of many citizens as to whether this is a proper method for collecting unpaid taxes. Surely if this is the ordinary method, then Congress should act immediately to make it extraordinary and unlawful. If a premise is to be searched, a search warrant should be issued by a court after due process. If property is to be seized, it should be seized after a trial, so that due process is not violated. Neither the Treasury nor any other administrative agency of the government should process arbitrary powers to act as prohibition agents acted and it should be noted that the excesses of governmental action, as much as a thirst for beer, brought on the repeal of the 18th Amendment and the Volstead Act.

Actually, the Treasury for several years has been studying the problem of tax exemptions by organizations not entitled to this privilege. This particularly applies to communist organizations which raise money by various means without ever making reports either publicly or to the Treasury as to the details of contributors and expenditures for which a form is provided and an annual report required under the law. The "Daily Worker" runs at a loss and if they ever told the truth about contributors and expenditures, it would be found that certain communists as well as non-communist fellow travelers provide funds for the deficits. If these persons take these contributions as income tax deductions, they are violating the law.

The communist party's claim that it had made income tax reports each year is either true or false. The Treasury statement on the subject is not clear because its agents do not feel that they are obligated, as public officials, to explain what they were doing, which is a wrong attitude to take as it serves the communists, who conduct a world-wide propaganda, setting forth their position whereas the Treasury gives the impression of unbelievable confusion. Washington stating that they do not know what New York officials are doing and why. It may be that the law and regulations forbid these officials to make statements to the press; in which case, they ought not to take steps which require well-considered and carefully prepared statements to the press.

It is interesting to note that the FBI, which is the most expert organization in the government on the subject of communism and communist organizations within the United States, took no part in this situation. This division of governmental operations is unfortunate. Where there should be cooperation, there seems to be competition. If these cases have to go to the courts, it must be the Department of Justice that carries the cases forward. Why then did the Treasury not first consult the Department of Justice? The facts, so far as we can get them, is that a New York office of the Internal Revenue Service did not even consult the Treasury in Washington.

In a matter of this sort, at this particular moment in our international relations, it might have made more sense to consult the State Department. The question that really arises is whether we have a government or only a bureaucracy. Have we sunk to the irresponsibility of France?

Personally, I do not object to the imprisonment of every communist in America, provided it is done by due process of the law without violating the Constitution. The Constitution is more important than collecting $2,500 for the premises of the "Daily Worker."

Two WHS Students Get Medals for Essays

Two Washington C. H. High School students not only received recognition but also will soon get medals for their essays on the subject: "What I Owe My Country."

The essays written by Arnold Ward, a junior in high school here, and David Frederick, a freshman, were selected as among the most worthy in the seventh district of the American Legion, which sponsored the essay contest.

Arnold's essay was based on his gratitude for his "great American heritage" and his obligations to his country. His essay follows:

By ARNOLD WARD
"For my great American heritage I am deeply indebted in many ways. I should be willing to make the necessary sacrifices to justify my citizenship.

"My first duty is to be a good citizen and to be one I must support and respect the Constitution and laws of the United States. I should give my full loyal support to the President of the United States and the other great leaders. When the time comes for me to have the privilege to vote, I should be grateful for the honor and vote for the people I think are best suited to govern our great country. To do this, a study of the person or persons running for office would be a great help. I owe my country my life, respect, love and full support. Later when I'm a wage-earner, I should pay the taxes that help support our country and the armies that help defend it. Life is valuable, but I should be prepared to give it up in honor of my country like so many others have done in the past. The words from the Declaration of Independence, "All men are created equal," should mean something to every American. If other countries thought that all men are created equal they might have more harmony among their people and a stronger government. I owe a lot to his country because in America we have freedom of religion which means a lot to me. I think the words, "A family that prays together, stays together" explains why America is so great. It gives us all an opportunity to worship as we please. Freedom of speech is another thing why I owe so much to my country. We can express ourselves without fear of being imprisoned or killed. I owe respect for the symbol of our country, the American flag. I should be ready at all times to defend it from being ridiculed. I am deeply grateful for all the great men who helped to form and to run our country, to those living and dead, known and unknown who have given their love, respect and loyal support in order to build America to what it is today. I owe to my country to do and say the right thing for the improvement of my community. These things help to build a stronger and safer country for the future Americans.

"Loyalty, Admiration, Respect

Love, Gratitude and more I owe this great country of ours of which I am a citizen; and with the help of God and my teachers I hope some day to be able to take my place in the building of a stronger and more glorious United States of America."

David's essay was developed on the five basic freedoms; of speech, of the press, of worship, from want and from fear. His essay follows:

By DAVID FREDERICK
"I owe my country all the rights and freedoms I enjoy in life. Freedom of Speech: I can express my beliefs without fear of persecution. I can publicly announce my opinion of my government. Freedom of the Press: My newspaper can print articles about the government that I am free to read. Freedom of Worship: I can worship whom and when I like without fear. Freedom from Want: I can work where I like if I can do the job. No one can make me work if I don't want to. Freedom from Fear: When someone knocks on the door I needn't be afraid that police will search my home. I don't have to be afraid of my government.

"In my government I can vote for congressmen and senators who will convey my wishes or requests to my government. I owe my country all the respect that is granted an American citizen. I can go to another country and it will respect my American citizenship.

"I live in a Democracy! I owe my country all the happiness I enjoy in life. I can live where I want, marry whom I like, and do what I like, if that does not interfere with other's rights. When I go to another country, I am respected, as an American citizen.

"In my country I can help nominate, vote for and elect anyone I want. I am not arrested if I say something about the President. I can stand on a soapbox on a street corner without fear. I have many rights and freedoms. I am happy, prosperous, I live in a Democracy. I owe all this to my country."

At the meeting from the post here were R. B. Tharp; Francis Morgan, district sergeant-at-arms; Paul Souther, the assistant district sergeant-at-arms; Eugene Ladrach, the Fayette County commander;

Dr. John Richards, the post vice commander; Fred Dennison; Russ Whited, who was also initiated in to the 40 and 8 prior to the Legion conference, and Bill Stoughton, district vice commander.

During the morning session, reports were heard from the committees on rehabilitation, child welfare, young activities and national security.

Stoughton gave the principal report of the afternoon session; he reported as chairman of the membership committee that the Legion membership is on a steady increase.

THE OTHER highlight of the afternoon session was the discussion of the Veterans Security Act by Thacker. At the conclusion of his talk, he urged the Legionnaires to get in touch with their congressmen and senators and ask them to support the measure.

Of major interest to the delegation from Washington C. H. was the announcement by the committee on education of the names of the winners and runners-up in the Legion-sponsored essay contest on the subject of: "What I Owe My Country".

Two Washington C. H. High School students, Arnold Ward, a junior, and David Frederick, a freshman, were given recognition for their essays as winners of the district competition. None of the district entries, however, made it to the state competition. Winners in the state are sent on for the national competition.

Although the Washington C. H. post made a bid for the next district conference, it was awarded to Portsmouth on a margin of six votes.

Vet Security Act Given Support

Eight members of the Paul H. Hughey post of the American Legion here today were loaded with facts and figures and general information about the Veterans Security Act and are ready to pass it all along to fellow Legionnaires at the next meeting of the post.

The Veterans Security Act, which relates to pensions for veterans over 65 years of age and disabled veterans between ages of 60 and 65 years of age, was discussed at considerable length by Fred Thacker of Marion, the deputy state vice commander, at the regular district conference of the Legion in Chillicothe.

At the meeting from the post here were R. B. Tharp; Francis Morgan, district sergeant-at-arms; Paul Souther, the assistant district sergeant-at-arms; Eugene Ladrach, the Fayette County commander;

Dr. John Richards, the post vice commander; Fred Dennison; Russ Whited, who was also initiated in to the 40 and 8 prior to the Legion conference, and Bill Stoughton, district vice commander.

Two WHS Students Get Medals for Essays

Two Washington C. H. High School students not only received recognition but also will soon get medals for their essays on the subject: "What I Owe My Country."

The essays written by Arnold Ward, a junior in high school here, and David Frederick, a freshman, were selected as among the most worthy in the seventh district of the American Legion, which sponsored the essay contest.

Arnold's essay was based on his gratitude for his "great American heritage" and his obligations to his country. His essay follows:

By ARNOLD WARD

"For my great American heritage I am deeply indebted in many ways. I believe it is my duty to make the necessary sacrifices to justify my citizenship.

"My first duty is to be a good citizen and to be one I must support and respect the Constitution and laws of the United States. I should give my full loyal support to the President of the United States and the other great leaders. When the time comes for me to have the privilege to vote, I should be grateful for the honor and vote for the people I think are best suited to govern our great country. To do this, a study of the person or persons running for office would be a great help. I owe my country my life, respect, love and full support. Later when I'm a wageearner, I should pay the taxes that help support our country and the armies that help defend it. Life is valuable, but I should be prepared to give it up in honor of my country like so many others have done in the past. The words from the Declaration of Independence, "All men are created equal," should mean something to every American. If other countries thought that all men are created equal they might have more harmony among their people and a stronger government. I owe a lot to this country because in America we have freedom of religion which means a lot to me. I think the words, "A family that prays together, stays together," explains why America is so great. It gives us all an opportunity to worship as we please. Freedom of speech is another thing why I owe so much to my country. We can express ourselves without fear of being imprisoned or killed. I owe respect for the symbol of our country, the American flag. I should be ready at all times to defend it from being ridiculed. I am deeply grateful for all the great men who helped to form and to run our country, to those living and dead, known and unknown who have given their love, respect and loyal support in order to build America to what it is today. I owe to my country to do and say the right thing for the improvement of my community. These things help to build a stronger and safer country for the future Americans.

"Loyalty, Admiration, Respect.

Eight from Here At Legion Meet

Vet Security Act Given Support

Eight members of the Paul H. Hughey post of the American Legion here today were loaded with facts and figures and general information about the Veterans Security Act and are ready to pass it all along to fellow Legionnaires at the next meeting of the post.

The Veterans Security Act, which relates to pensions for veterans over 65 years of age and disabled veterans between ages of 60 and 65 years of age, was discussed at considerable length by Fred Thacker of Marion, the deputy state vice commander, at the regular district conference of the Legion in Chillicothe.

At the meeting from the post here were R. B. Tharp; Francis Morgan, district sergeant-at-arms; Paul Souther, the assistant district sergeant-at-arms; Eugene Ladrach, the Fayette County commander;

can stand on a soapbox on a street corner without fear. I have many rights and freedoms, I am happy, prosperous, I live in a Democracy. I owe all this to my country."

"I live in a Democracy! I owe my country all the happiness I enjoy in life. I can live where I want, marry whom I like, and do what I like, if that does not interfere with other's rights. When I go to another country, I am respected, as an American citizen.

"In my country I can help nominate, vote for and elect anyone I want. I am not arrested if I say something about the President. I

Dr. John Richards, the post vice commander; Fred Dennison; Russ Whited, who was also initiated in to the 40 and 8 prior to the Legion conference, and Bill Stoughton, district vice commander.

During the morning session, reports were heard from the committees on rehabilitation, child welfare, junior activities and national security.

Stoughton gave the principal report of the afternoon session; he reported as chairman of the membership committee that the Legion membership is on a steady increase.

THE OTHER highlight of the afternoon session was the discussion of the Veterans Security Act by Thacker. At the conclusion of his talk, he urged the Legionnaires to get in touch with their congressmen and senators and ask them to support the measure.

Of major interest to the delegation from Washington C. H. was the announcement by the committee on education of the names of the winners and runners-up in the Legion-sponsored essay contest on the subject of: "What I Owe My Country."

Two Washington C. H. High School students, Arnold Ward, a junior, and David Frederick, a freshman, were given recognition for their essays as winners of the district competition. None of the district entries, however, made it to the state competition. Winners in the state are sent on for the national competition.

Although the Washington C. H. post made a bid for the next district conference, it was awarded to Portsmouth on a margin of six votes.

A COUPLE OF UNUSUAL motion pictures have been obtained for Wednesday and Thursday for the Fayette Theater. The other is "Target Earth," a futuristic and melodramatic fantasy about what might happen to one great city of the United States if it were invaded by killer-robots from Venus.

I Lost 70 Pounds Thanks To My Best Friend

"At the time I started using Renell Concentrate several months ago I weighed 210 lbs.," writes Mrs. Helen Daley, 722 West Market St., Akron 3, Ohio. "In using Renell I have gone down to 140 lbs. You must know how pleased I am to lose 70 lbs. My health is improved and I feel wonderful. Thanks to Renell, my best friend, I have the vitality and health that I have today."

Thousands of others have overcome the social and physical discomfort of being overweight with this effective home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Renell Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoons twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves—if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Insist on Renell.

The Reverend Sandford Lindsey visited the Cherry Hill school Friday, April 6, to show the upper four grades slides of the pictures that were taken on his trip to the Holy Lands last summer. A running commentary was carried on in explaining each picture.

The first pictures were taken in Egypt showing old remains of both the upper and lower kingdoms of the Nile. They included the Sphinx and the Valley of the Kings with its statues. He also showed pictures of ruins that still contained paint and brick buildings standing after three thousand years.

Other points of interest were the Dead Sea, Mt. Moab, Jordan River, Jerusalem, Bethel, the Tombs of Jerusalem, Walls of Joshua, Elijah's Well, Mt. of Olives, Cedars of Lebanon, Dome of the Rock, Bethlehem, the Road to Jericho and Samaria, Bethany, Good Samaritan Inn, Garden of Gethsemane, the Gate of Jerusalem, Praetorium and the Wailing Wall.

Other pictures were Jacob's Well, Herod's Tomb, Rachael's Tomb and the Walls of the City of Jerusalem.

One of the most impressive pictures of all was that of the Holy Sepulchre.

On the journey home they visited Greece, Italy, France and England where they took pictures of some of the famous churches and cathedrals in those countries.

Court And Courts Do Church's Work

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Supreme Court and the world of sports have done the church's work in the field of race relations, says an Episcopal minister.

The Rev. Alvin L. Kershaw of Oxford told the Student Christian

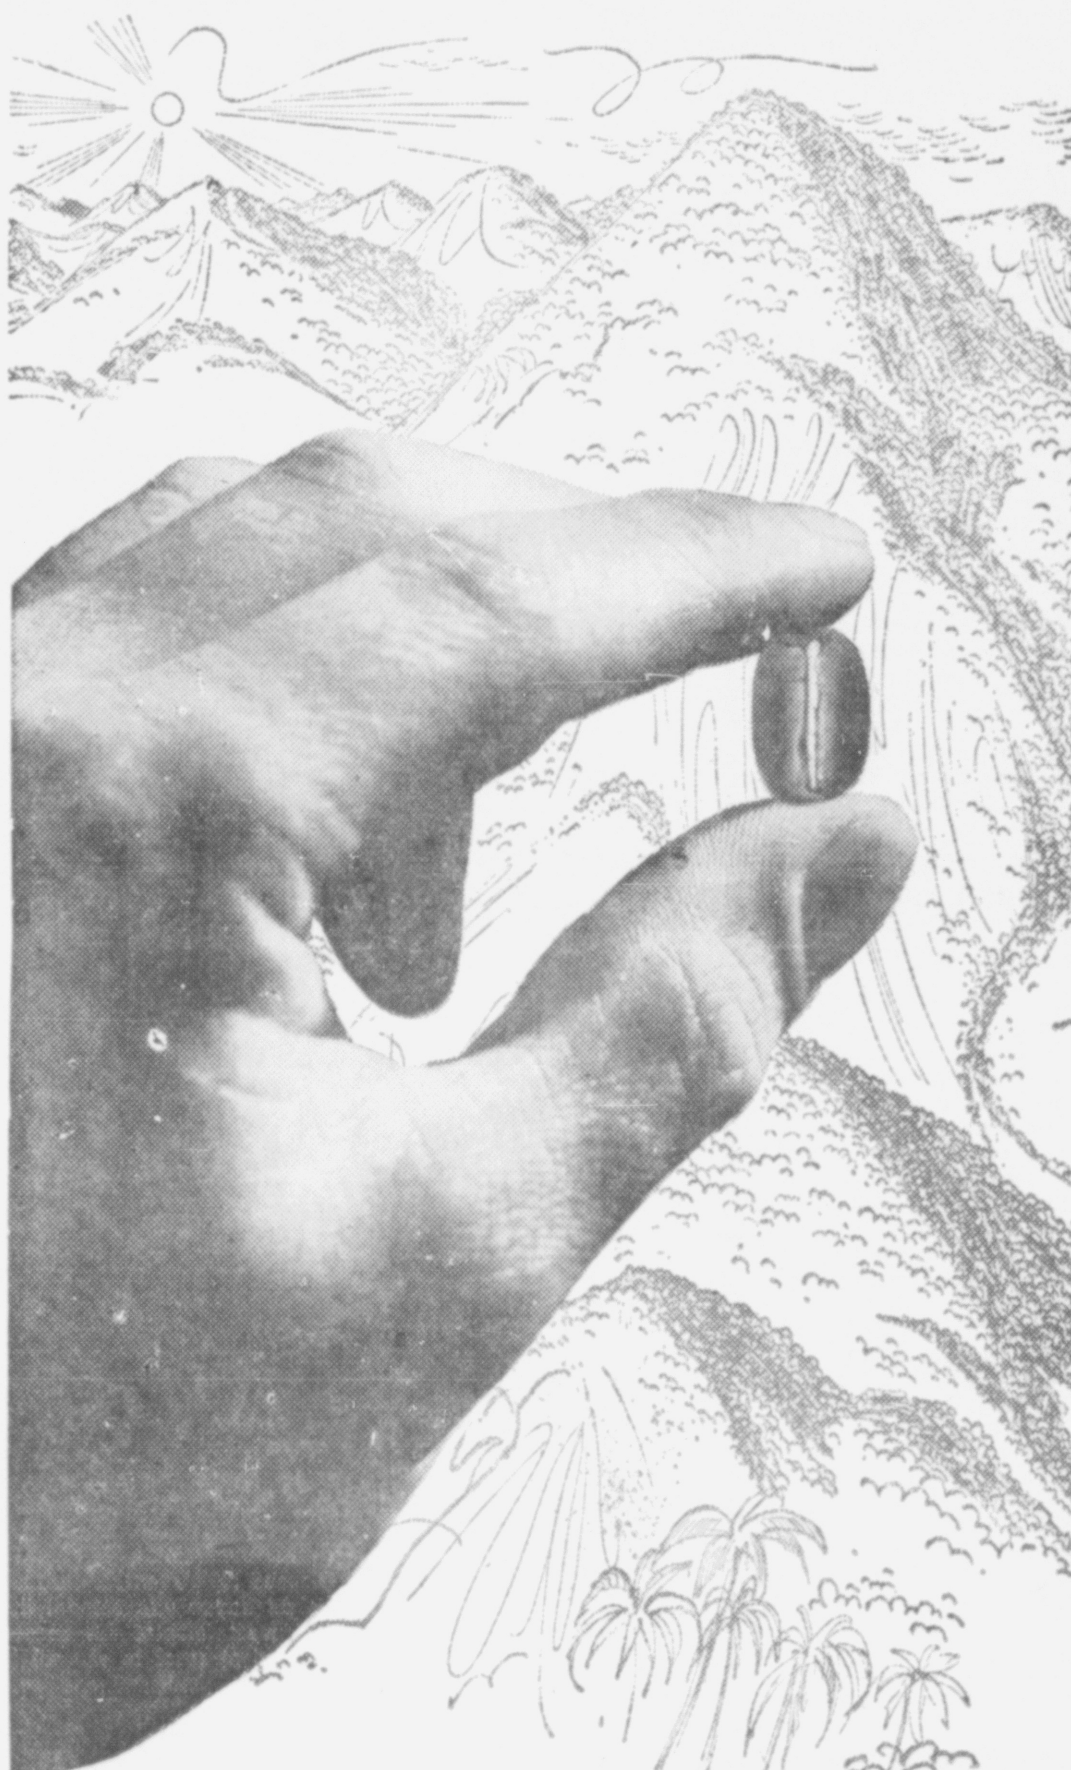

Union of Cleveland last night that the Supreme Court "has done the work of the church in stating that to deny any citizen of the United States equal status is unchristian and unlawful."

Integration was pioneered more in the sports field than in the churches, he said, adding that it is a tragedy that there are "very few integrated churches" in the country.

WHS Camera Club
Is Sponsor Of Show

Prize photos—fifty of them—taken by high school students in all parts of the country, will be on display from Wednesday to Monday, April 16 at Washington C. H. high school.

The photos include all 16 of the top prizewinners from the 1955 National High School Photographic Awards competition, as well as competition honorable mention winners. Subjects range from pictures of high school life, and snaps of babies and small children to broad scenic views.

The high school camera club here, under the direction of Fred Cluff, arranged to bring the show to the school. The display is being circulated throughout the country by the awards competition officials.

Grand prize winning pictures included in the display are the work of Phillip Broman, Mesa, Arizona; Gerald Walter Neillsville, Wisconsin; Ron Curbow, Mt. Vernon, Washington; and Robert Ludlum, Santa Barbara, California.

JUDGES OF the awards competition, who selected the photos for the display, were Dr. Ann M. Lally, Director of Art, Chicago Public Schools; Fred Kildow, Director of National Scholastic Press Association; Rev. Michael F. Mullen, Vice-President of the Catholic Audio-Visual Education Association; J. Ely Van Hart, Assistant Director of Personnel and Special Education of the Elizabeth, New Jersey Public Schools and K. W. Williams, manager, Photographs Illustrations Division the Eastman Kodak Company.

Fred Cluff, the Camera Club advisor, said that because of lack of space the photos would have to be exhibited on rotation. He explained that the 50 photos tagged for the exhibit would be displayed, eight or ten at a time, in a glass case in the main corridor of the high school just to the right of the North Street entrance.

Cluff said the ideal arrangement would have been to have the display in one room in which the photos could be hung on the walls—just as in a regular art salon. However, he added, there is not a single room available, nor a suitable room that is not in constant use as a classroom.

Hartshorn maintained he shot his brother in self-defense. The shooting took place last Nov. 29 on a nearby farm.

Dodgers Picked To Win Flag Again In '56

Bot Power, Pitching Cited; Redlegs Tagged For Fifth, As Usual

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—The unbeatable combination of the most powerful batting order in the post-war era and a pitching staff deep in starters and rich in bullpen strength should bring another National League pennant to the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1956 with just about as much ease as last year.

After first place—well, anything can happen. Any one of five teams can take over the runner-up spot—Milwaukee, New York, St. Louis, Cincinnati and Philadelphia. Last year only 10 games separated second place Milwaukee and fifth place Cincinnati.

Despite the uncertain condition of pitching ace Gene Conley and weaknesses at second base and left field, the Braves may be the best of the also-rans. The Cards, called the best seventh-place club ever to play in the National League, could conceivably climb three notches with improved pitching.

The Giants, a difficult team to analyze because of the presence of Willie Mays, Alvin Dark and Don Mueller to counterbalance with weaknesses at second, third, left field and behind the plate with a questionable pitching staff to boot, don't figure higher than third.

The Redlegs, with power at the plate exceeded only by the Dodgers, could force their way into the first division only if their

Redlegs Pick Up New First Sacker

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs acquired first baseman George Crowe from the Milwaukee Braves yesterday.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts denied that the move was insurance against further injury to slugger Ted Kluszewski, the Reds regular first sacker.

"We need pinch hitters," Tebbetts said. "Crowe was the best available. That he also plays first base is incidental. We tried to deal for Crowe a year ago."

Speedy Herb Score Treats Giants Like Poor Cousins

(By The Associated Press)
Poor Herb Score. He won 16 games and struck out 245 as the American League rookie of the year with the Cleveland Indians last season, and all the time his "cousins" were in the other league.

The guys he calls "cousins" are the New York Giants, and he's been treating them like poor relations this spring. In 22 innings against them the 22-year-old fireballer left-hander has permitted only 3 runs, 12 hits and 10 walks while fanning 21.

He's looked so good the Giants' Don Mueller, a pretty fair hitter, ranks him No. 1 on the Cleveland staff—ahead of Bob Lemon, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia, in fact, should they meet in the World Series. Mueller figures it'll take the Giants five games to win. They swept the Tribe in four straight in 1954 but Mueller concedes one victory to Score.

Herb was at his usual best Monday as Cleveland beat the Giants 6-4. Mueller got an infield single and Gail Harris followed with a home run to the opposite field off pitching outdoes itself.

Despite the presence of Robin Roberts, the best pitcher in baseball, the punchless Phillies don't figure to finish in the first division and may not go higher than sixth. The Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates are obviously improved but appear doomed to battle it out for seventh place.

This writer picks the teams to finish in the following order:

1. Brooklyn
2. Milwaukee
3. New York
4. St. Louis
5. Cincinnati
6. Philadelphia
7. Chicago
8. Pittsburgh

Like most needy folks, the Dodger-chasers are grabbing at straws. This year there's a young phenom named Charley Neal at second, a strong pitching prospect named Don Drysdale and a stylish left-hander named Ken Lehman to replace the sore-armed Billy Loes, Karl Spooner and the departed Johnny Podres.

The odds are against the Dodgers approaching their 1955 feat of winning 22 of their first 24 games but, the fact is, they look stronger. Barring crippling injuries to such key men as Roy Campanella, Duke Snider, Pee Wee Reese, Gil Hodges or Carl Furillo the team may duplicate its 13½ game victory romp of last year.

a low outside fast ball in the first inning, but then Score became almost untouchable. He walked just two and fanned five while giving only one more hit in his five innings—a smash to the mound that went for a single by Whitey Lockman.

Bob Feller mopped up for the Tribe with four hits—one a two-run homer by Hank Thompson, who was purposely held back until Score departed. Giant manager Bill Rigney figured Hank might only 3 runs, 12 hits and 10 walks while fanning 21.

Cleveland got its licks in early, belting Al Worthington for six hits and five runs in the first three frames. Hoot Evers and Jim Hegan homered off the righthander.

Cold and rain checked the exhibition schedule to five games—and pitching dominated each one.

Veteran Ned Garver, trying to escape the bullpen, allowed only one hit and faced the 18-man minimum for his six innings as Detroit swalloped New Orleans of the Southern Assn. 10-0.

Robin Roberts was in complete charge as the Philadelphia Phils beat Boston's Red Sox 2-1. Robin, going nine innings, tossed a six-hitter and didn't walk a man. The Boston run was unearned Richie Ashburn, with three of the four hits allowed by Tom Brewer and Leo Kiely, won it with a two-run homer.

Milwaukee got eight scattered hits and two runs from Brooklyn rookie Don Drysdale for six frames, then jumped on Dave Cole for four runs in the eighth and won 8-4. Bob Buhl was solved for only three hits before being chased in the eighth. Bob Trowbridge cut off the Brook rally at one run, but was evicted himself in the ninth when Randy Jackson homered. Johnny Logan homered off Drysdale, a 19-year-old righthander.

Cincinnati whipped Washington 7-1 behind the four-hit pitching of rookie Pat Scantlebury and Joe Black. Wally Post had two triples and Frank Robinson homered for the Redlegs.

Cincinnati also got first baseman George Crowe from Milwaukee in return for outfielder Bob Hazle, who goes to Wichita, and an as yet unnamed player.

Jimmy Braddock, ex-heavyweight champion, is beginning to get the knack of bowling. He's in the 125 class. Ex-light heavyweight ruler Gus Lesnevich often bowl 200.

'Red Top' Davis Defeats Chavez

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Piling up a decisive margin in the final round, Teddy (Red Top) Davis, Hartford, Conn., lightweight, took a split decision over Eddie Chavez of San Jose here last night.

Chavez enjoyed an edge in the early rounds as he scored well with left hooks to the body, but Davis picked up steam as the fight progressed and was in complete command at the finish.

Chavez tired badly in the 10th. He missed desperation blows and was nothing more than a punching bag for the Hartford veteran.

OSU Baseball Team To Tour Pacific

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio State's team will tour Japan this summer. Coach Marty Kerow received official word that the trip, previously approved by the OSU athletic board and the Big Ten, has also been given OK by the Army.

The most extensive tour in the school's athletic history will start from the West Coast on June 15 for Kerow and 24 players.

The team will face Japanese college and U. S. military teams, beginning in Tokyo. There will probably be a week's stopover in Hawaii on the return trip and the team is expected to return between Aug. 1 and 10.

Cardinals Give Up On Fireman Smith

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals have given up on 28-year-old Frank Smith, a relief hurler with a sore arm.

The club announced that Smith, unable to throw hard or naturally this spring, has been returned to St. Louis to await reassignment if he isn't claimed on waivers by another major league team.

Frank Lane, Redbird general manager, said Smith had indicated he might quit rather than go to a St. Louis farm club.

Smith came to St. Louis from the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Furman Ace Keeps Cage Scoring Title

NEW YORK (AP)—All-America Darrell Floyd of Furman shaded All-America Robin Freeman of

Ohio State by less than one point in retaining his major college basketball scoring title.

Final statistics released by the NCAA Service Bureau show that Floyd averaged 33.8 points while tallying 946 times in 28 games. Freeman scored 723 points in 22 games for a 32.9 average.

Floyd's total is exceeded only by 1,209 scored by Furman's Frank Selvy in 1954.

Freeman Is Voted MVP In Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP)—All-America Robin Freeman became the first Ohio State basketball player to be named the most valuable in the Big Ten.

Freeman edged Iowa's Carl Cain for top honors. Max Morris of Northwestern was the first winner in 1946.

Freeman picked up 29 points in the poll of conference coaches, and veteran officials.

Marion Irked By Showing Of His Chisox

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Marty Marion, one of baseball's "nice guy" managers, was anything but nice yesterday when he ripped into the Chicago White Sox for indifferent play.

Seething over his team's performance against the St. Louis Cardinals in the present exhibition swing north, Marion stormed he wouldn't tolerate "indifference" among his players.

"I know that this spring training won-and-lost record doesn't mean a thing," said Marion. "But that doesn't mean we have to tolerate indifference among our 'stars' when we play these exhibitions."

"I tell you one thing," continued the manager, "we might lose some ball games this summer but it won't be with players that don't want to play."

Marion's wrath reached a peak Sunday when the Sox lost to St.

Louis 8-6. It was their 13th defeat in 25 games and their fourth in the last five games with the Cardinals who have found Sox opposition little better than the minor league variety.

Righthander Dick Donovan was chastised by Marion for a sloppy pitching performance Sunday and big Jim Rivera, the hot-and-cold outfielder, is being benched. Rivera's average is .229.

"He's pathetic at the plate," Marion said. "I don't think he's that bad a hitter. He couldn't be, but I'm going to give him a few days to figure it out."

Dodgers Picked To Win Flag Again In '56

Bat Power, Pitching Cited; Redlegs Tagged For Fifth, As Usual

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—The unbeatable combination of the most powerful batting order in the post-war era and a pitching staff deep in starters and rich in bullpen strength should bring another National League pennant to the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1956 with just about as much ease as last year.

After first place—well, anything can happen. Any one of five teams can take over the runner-up spot—Milwaukee, New York, St. Louis, Cincinnati and Philadelphia. Last year only 10 games separated second place Milwaukee and fifth place Cincinnati.

Despite the uncertain condition of pitching ace Gene Conley and weaknesses at second base and left field, the Braves may be the best of the also-rans. The Cards, called the best seventh-place club ever to play in the National League, could conceivably climb three notches with improved pitching.

The Giants, a difficult team to analyze because of the presence of Willie Mays, Alvin Dark and Don Mueller to counterbalance with weaknesses at second, third, left field and behind the plate with a questionable pitching staff to boot, don't figure higher than third.

The Redlegs, with power at the plate exceeded only by the Dodgers, could force their way into the first division only if their

Redlegs Pick Up New First Sacker

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs acquired first baseman George Crowe from the Milwaukee Braves yesterday.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts denied that the move was insurance against further injury to slugger Ted Kluszewski, the Reds regular first sacker.

"We need pinch hitters," Tebbetts said. "Crowe was the best available. That he also plays first base is incidental. We tried to deal for Crowe a year ago."

Speedy Herb Score Treats Giants Like Poor Cousins

(By The Associated Press)
Poor Herb score. He won 16 games and struck out 245 as the American League rookie of the year with the Cleveland Indians last season, and all the time his "cousins" were in the other league.

The guys he calls "cousins" are the New York Giants, and he's been treating them like poor relations this spring. In 22 innings against them the 22-year-old fireballer's left hander has permitted only 3 runs, 12 hits and 10 walks while fanning 21.

He's looked so good the Giants' Don Mueller, a pretty fair hitter, ranks him No. 1 on the Cleveland staff—ahead of Bob Lemon, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia, in fact, should they meet in the World Series, Mueller figures it'll take the Giants five games to win. They swept the Tribe in four straight in 1954, but Mueller concedes one victory to Score.

Hutchinson Not Optimistic About 1956 Card Fortunes

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Freddy Hutchinson, the new manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, is going through the same experience Eddie Stanky did a year ago. As was the case last spring, big things are predicted for the Cardinals because of the fine showing of the pitchers during the exhibition games.

Like Stanky, Hutchinson refuses to be swept along by the optimism. "We'll go as far as our pitching will carry us," was Stanky's observation a year ago. "Our pitching has looked good but it must be remembered that we've had the benefit of a pitchers' park (Al Lang Field in St. Petersburg, Fla.)."

Stanky's worst fears were borne out once the season got under way. The pitchers flopped badly and finished a miserable seventh, the Cardinals' worst showing in 30 years. Hutchinson's reaction is almost the same. "It's up to the pitching," he said. "If it continues to be as good as it has been, we'll be all right. If it doesn't, we're sunk. Naturally, I'm pleased with the showing of the pitchers, but I'm not going to do any hand springs until they show me they can do it during the regular season."

"I may open the season with 13 or 14 pitchers on the staff," he said. "I intend to carry as many pitchers I can until out-of-town time."

'Going Ahead' Perrill Asserts

School Situation Discussed At Wayne

The Miami Trace School Board is taking the Washington C. H. board at its word and is "going ahead with relocation" of the 230 pupils who cannot be accommodated in Washington C. H. High School next year, J. Herbert Perrill told the Wayne PTO meeting Monday evening.

Some details remain to be worked out, Perrill said, but relocation will be complete in plenty of time for the fall session.

Comparatively, the county gets a better tax deal than the city does, Perrill claimed and he said a consolidation with the city school district would force the rural tax rate up. In consolidated district, he asserted, the rural population would pay two out of every three tax dollars going into the mutual program.

The city tax rate of 12.6 mills yields $114 per pupil in tax money, while the Miami Trace rate of 10 mills yields $136 per pupil, Perrill told the group. If the two districts were consolidated, he said, the rural area would have to absorb a 1.6 mill tax raise to equal present standards of operation.

Perrill, a member of the Miami Trace Board and spokesman, discussed the school situation at the meeting and answered questions from the group relating to the problem.

CONTRIBUTIONS to the cancer fund and the crippled children's fund were voted by the group at the same session.

The evening's program featured piano playing and tap dancing by entertainers especially brought to the meeting by the program committee. Nancy Rogers played a piano solo for the group and Linda Kellenberger sang and did a tap dance routine.

Program committee members included Mrs. Herbert Hoppes, Mrs. Marilyn Taylor and Mrs. Everett Rife.

Jackie Hoppes opened the meeting by singing "Missing" and "Glorious Road." Mrs. Herbert Hoppes accompanied her on the piano.

The pre-school clinic, set for April 27 at the school, was discussed. A nominating committee for new officers for the coming year was appointed: Mrs. Eugene Thompson, Mrs. Willard Bonham, Mrs. Charles Goldsberry and Mrs. Russell Hatfield.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Jack Hoppes, Mrs. Ted Knisley, Mrs. Dana Kellenberger, Mrs. Ralph Jones, Mrs. George Posey and Mrs. Carl Rhoades.

Next meeting was set for May 7. Program committee includes Prin. Harold Thomas, Alexander More, Miss Lyda Grace Wissler, Mrs. Robert Hinchman, Mrs. Paul Gordon and Norton Pymale. Social committee members are Mrs. Daie Eakins, Mrs. Robert Bush, Mrs. Willard Judy, Mrs. Earl Deering, Mrs. Emerald Sollars and Mrs. Edward Hoskins.

Annual Meeting Plans For C of C Discussed

Charles Reinke, the president of the Chamber of Commerce, is going to serve also as its general manager temporarily until a successor to Glen W. Allen is appointed by the board.

The decision was reached by the board at its regular meeting Monday night as it discussed operation of the Chamber during the weeks ahead.

Allen, who came here about two years ago from Dayton, will be leaving within a week for Leaksville, N. C., to assume the management of a new three-city Chamber of Commerce there.

While Reinke fills the manager's position temporarily, Mrs. Lloyd Davis, the office secretary, will be there to handle the daily routine with which she is already familiar.

Although the directors interviewed two possible successors to Allen during the meeting no final action was taken—and when any is taken remains uncertain.

PLANS for the coming annual meeting of the Chamber on May 25 at the Country Club were discussed at considerable length. Much interest centered on a report on the long range plans which are nearing completion as a project of the graduate school in city design of Miami University.

Indications are that the maps and charts that are being prepared by the School of City Design would be completed and shown at the meeting by Prof. Rudolph Frankel, head of the school.

The directors also discussed the plans for a get-together of businessmen of town and country at a banquet that is to be sponsored by the Fayette County Hereford Association and other beef cattle raisers and the Chamber of Commerce for April 20. It is to be held at the Country Club and is designed to take the place of the Corn Show banquet, which was abandoned by mutual agreement because of waning interest in the corn and grain show.

Paul Van Voorhis is chairman of this banquet committee.

THREE OTHER committees were named at this meeting of the board.

On the committee to arrange for the annual meeting were placed Mike Harrison, Harold Soldan, Andre Metais and Verne Haugen.

Annual Meeting Plans For C of C Discussed

Charles Reinke, the president of the Chamber of Commerce, is going to serve also as its general manager temporarily until a successor to Glen W. Allen is appointed by the board.

The decision was reached by the board at its regular meeting Monday night as it discussed operation of the Chamber during the weeks ahead.

Allen, who came here about two years ago from Dayton, will be leaving within a week for Leaksville, N. C., to assume the management of a new three-city Chamber of Commerce there.

While Reinke fills the manager's position temporarily, Mrs. Lloyd Davis, the office secretary, will be there to handle the daily routine with which she is already familiar.

Although the directors interviewed two possible successors to Allen during the meeting no final action was taken—and when any is taken remains uncertain.

PLANS FOR THE coming annual meeting of the Chamber on May 25 at the Country Club were discussed at considerable length.

Much interest centered on a report on the long range plans which are nearing completion as a project of the graduate school in city design of Miami University.

Indications are that the maps and charts that are being prepared by the School of City Design would be completed and shown at the meeting by Prof. Rudolph Frankel, head of the school.

The directors also discussed the plans for a get-together of businessmen of town and country at a banquet that is to be sponsored by the Fayette County Hereford Association and other beef cattle raisers and the Chamber of Commerce for April 20. It is to be held at the Country Club and is designed to take the place of the Corn Show banquet, which was abandoned by mutual agreement because of waning interest in the corn and grain show.

Paul Van Voorhis is chairman of this banquet committee.

THREE OTHER committees were named at this meeting of the board.

On the committee to arrange for the annual meeting were placed Mike Harrison, Harold Soldan, Andre Metals and Verne Haugen.
